

Patagonia Plants

Patagonia Plants

Browse

Bromelias

Below you can choose from an extensive range of hardy and semi hardy Bromeliads from Chile. The list contains numerous Bromeliads with a very attractive tropical look. The hardy and semi hardy bromeliads of our Patagonia Plants range are truly breath taking when flowering.

By clicking on the photographs below, you will get detailed product information regarding the exclusive range of exotic bromeliads from Patagonia.

Fascicularia bicolor

Fascicularia bicolor, Sun Bromeliad. A Bromeliad with an intens fiery red autumn color. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Fascicularia bicolor "Bicolor"

Sub-variety of Fascicularia bicolor, known as Sun Bromeliad. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Fascicularia litoralis

Fascicularia litoralis. Similar to Fascicularia bicolor. Tends to have more succulent leaves. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Greigia sphacelata

Greigia sphacelata, bromeliad with a torch-like foliage. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Ochavia rosea

Ochavia rosea, bromeliad with impressive flowers in the centre of the plant. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Puya alpestris

Puya alpestris, Puya with sensational rosette of serrated spiny leaves. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Puya berteroniana

Puya bertoriana, Puya with dense rosettes of arching leaves. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Puya Chilensis

Puya chilensis, probably the fastest growing Puya of Chile. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Puya coerulea

Puya alpestris, Puya with sensational rosettes of serrated spiny leaves. [\[Product Details...\]](#)

Puya venusta

Puya venusta, puya with rosettes of silvery-grey, leaves. [\[Product Details...\]](#)